

The diagram illustrates the layout of the Marking Scheme, showing the flow of information from the top header to the bottom footer. The layout is organized into three main sections: the header, the question entry form, and the footer.

Header: The top section features a red header bar with the text "Mark" in white. Below this, a red box contains a red "X" icon and a red "X" icon, indicating a question that has been marked.

Question Entry Form: The middle section contains a form for entering question details. It is divided into two main parts: "question" and "mark awarded". The "question" part includes a large red "Q" icon, a red box for the "section" number, and a red box for the "number". The "mark awarded" part includes a red box for the "mark awarded".

Footer: The bottom section features a red footer bar with the text "Mark" in white. Above this, a red box contains a red checkmark icon and a red box, indicating a question that has been marked.

Sub-total: On the left side of the diagram, a vertical column of red boxes is labeled "Sub-total".
